A Big Political Meeting to be Held Next Monday, When O'Ferrall and Simpson Will Most_Flood and Tucker.

LEXINGTON, VA., Sept. 30 .- Special .-The Rev. B. C. Mcomaw, the originator of the industrial development of Buena Vista, after a short absence in the Northwest, has returned to the old homestead at Buena Vista, and assumed editorial charge of the Buena Vista Advocate vice Editor and Owner Baillie, who goes to Lynchburg as chief clerk to Collector Sheppard. Mr. Moomaw is a writer of great force and clearness, a man of polished education and an enthusiast in the development of Virginia's material re-

The Rev. E. C. Root, a well known Baptist minister, who for many years has served most of the Baptist churches in the county, has accepted a call to Dinwiddle Courthouse, where he will locate within the next few days.

Captain John Carmichael, son-in-law of Hon. John Handolph Tucker, holding a service of the land dearthner; of the position in the land department of the Department of the Interior as land in-Department of the Interior as land inspector of public lands, writes from faroff Washington State that he has raised a rumpus amongst the bogus holders, or squatters, on government lands. If those fellows out West take Captain John for a tender-foot, they will get badly left. He is an old V. M. I. boy and was with the boys at the front during the late unpleasantness with our northern friends, and will fielt anything that walks. will fight anything that walks.

The waters of North, South and James river in this section are alive with the toothsome and game black bass, which are being captured in goodly numbers. The city sportsmen may be interested to know that the fields of Rockbridge are well stocked with partridge, and the sport this season will be lively and profitable.

Light frosts have fallen in some sections of communicity, and as a result tions of our mountains, and as a result the trees are fast putting on their au-tumn coats of gold blended with the colors of the rainbow and a thousand tints.

Wilkesharre, Pa., capitalists are taking an interest in the tin mines of the Irish Creek section of this county, and the near future may see a syndicate developing that rich property if an interest or possession can be purchased. The annual session of the Virginia Synod of the Presbyterian Church meets here on the 17th proximo, when there will gather in Lexington a distinguished body of eminent divines and laymen of that denomination, and much business of a general nature be transacted.

The Bruce House, adjoining the court-house square, for a long time vacant, will shortly be opened as a hotel by a gentleman from down the Valley.

Notwithstanding the financial depressions of the court of the sion and the general dull season all over the country, Buena Vista, our sister city of enterprise, can boast of eight enter-prises in full blast, and the probability is that the Rarig Works, the largest plant in the town, will soon go into operation.

As soon as the price of iron advances the large iron blast furnace will go into blast.

The fires are laid and ready to be lighted. At Glasgow, a little further down the river, things are at a standstill, and no new developments are reported-one two small enterprises are in operation there, so I hear.

The Masonic and Pythian orders here have a bright future before them, so I am informed, there being considerable work in sight for this fall and winter. Last fall and winter these orders, along with the Odd-Fellows, made big records with the Odd-Fellows, made big records in increasing their membership.

The announcement that State Senator Flood, of Appomattox, is to be a candidate for congressional honors in this district against the Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, our present efficient congressman, has developed the fact that Mr. Flood will find a warm support in the district from a certain source heretofore friendly to Mr. Tucker. A very great many of the to Mr. Tucker. A very great many of the office seekers, so I am told, think Mr. Tucker has not treated them right in the fight for public office under this administration, and the result will be that they will show heir feeling by supporting Mr. Flood's candidacy. While all admit the eminent fitness of Mr. Flood to fill the position, yet Mr. Tucker has made a great and brilliant record, and will be returned if the managers can be depended on. He is entitled to continue in the position made famous by his eminent father, and in which he is making a record of which any man might well feel proud.

Monday, court day, is the day announced by the managers of the People's party (allas republicans) for their champion, Jerry Simpson, to get eloquent and elec-trify the sovereigns. Many Democrats will be in his audience to see the great and only "sockless" statesman from the West and to hear his little tale of woe. Curlosity will enlarge his crowd to ten times what it would otherwise be had the Third party failed to put up so dis-tinguished a spokesman as "the sockless." If he will divide time with our Tucker, Anderson, Lee or others that we can put up, there will be a feast for the boys to be sure, and "the sockless" will be routed in quick order.

Mr. E. H. Barclay, editor of the Ga-zette, who is a candidate for the position of Public Printer at Washington, is being pushed by his friends at Washington, who hope to secure the appointment at an early day. Mr. Barclay is endorsed by a long list of the Virginia press, some of the most eminent business men in this and other States, and his political friends in and out of Congress are very many. Ex-Governor Lee was on the street a few days ago, the very picture of robust health, shaking hands with his many friends. As he grows older he becomes more and more popular, and when the time comes for our Legislature to name a successor to the lamented Earbour, there will be a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm for old Fitz, the gallant and daring cavairy leader on many a hardight battle field.

Up to date the classes of the Virginia Military Institute show 188, and those of the Washington and Lee University 200. The law class has 45 men in it. The foot-ball elevens of Washington and Lee and the Virginia Military Institute have been organized, and are under training for the inter-colleging series to be Near Fairfield the other day the clover huller of Messrs. Cox & Searson took fire and was destroyed, together with a large quantity of clover seed.

The financial situation in this section is decidedly on the improve, money is more plentiful, collections better, business in all lines improving, and the banks have a full supply of currency, and there are no restrictions as to depositors checking out their money. With an abundance of money, bounteous crops, and prices ad-vancing for the farm products, the situation is more hopeful ing was opened by Rev. C. L. Morrison in a handsome speech touching the cam-paign and its issues in Virginia, with a happy tribute to the Democratic chieftain, the peerless knight of the Shenan-donh valley, and referring to his selfdoan value, and his distinguished service to his State and country, as the choice of the people, rather than the few, presented to the ladies and gentlemen resent, Hon. Charles T. O'Ferrall, whom designated as the next Governor of old Virginia.

The Colonel spoke for an hour and a half, disposing of the so-called Peo-ple's party first; some of whom were present. He then, in a masterly way, set forth the true position of our party on the silver question, contrasting his votes in Congress with the Populist votes. His discussion of the tariff was ueld and forcible, showing how protec tion falls to protect the people, but im-poses upon them heavy and unjust bur-dens. His illustrations were of an apt and telling character, and he was fre quently interrupted with rousing applause It is not the first time the Colonel has carried West Point by storm with his elequence, and he will even more certainly carry its vote on the 7th of the Board of Aldermen. ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 30 .- Special. -The United Industrial Company, of New York, has made a proposition to the Board of Aldermen, by the terms of which, if accepted, the immense knitting factory, which has been tanked about some time, will be established on the Swannanoa river, above the present site of the water works. It will be remembered that opposition to the scheme by the Board of Aldermer to the scheme by the Board of Aldermen has been based upon the probabilities of a pollution of the city water supply. To avoid this the company say they will furnish water to the city at its present cost from their proposed new dam, if the city will extend its mains and remove its pumps to that point. They offer, also, to purchase the city They offer, also, to purchase the city water power, excepting the pumps, and including the land, at the original cost to the city. They will build a dam to cost about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which will furnish, when completed, 1500 horse-power. They say it will require five years for them to build mills sufficient to consume this power (these mills, according to the company's statement, will employ five or six thousand operatives) and that they will consequently be put to great expense in the way of loss of interest etc., before they can begin to operate these mills, and as a compensation, they ask the city to enter into a contract with the contr they ask the city to enter into a contract with them, or give them a cash equivalent, if this is not feasable, to furnish lights to the city for a period of five years. The representatives of the company say they have been offered considerable inducements to go to Weldon, N. C., and to Tarboro, N. C.

The Board of Aldermen have not as yet taken action on this proposition, and their course with reference thereto cannot be predicted with any certainty. Suffice it to say, the people here have
